

I Hear Your Voice In The Pouring Rain

words and music by Tysa Goodrich

I'm so ready to fall in love
You've got me turned upside down
Under the stormy sky
I feel myself come around

I travel near, and I've traveled far
In search of where I belong
But here on my weathered porch
I feel myself coming home

I hear your voice in the pouring rain
I never thought that I could feel this way
Inside the dream, it's beautiful to see
(I can't believe) I hear your voice in the pouring rain
The flood gates open when you call my name
This thunderstorm is beautiful to me

I let the rain shower over me
I walk through clover in my bare feet
Then I see you
Drivin' down my lane

I hear your voice in the pouring rain
I never thought that I could feel this way
Inside the dream, it's beautiful to see

BRIDGE The rain keeps coming down, It feels refreshing on my tongue

I'm so ready to fall in love
And not a moment too soon
Here you come walkin' in
I'm ready to give you the moon

I hear your voice in the pouring rain
I never thought that I could feel this way
Inside the dream, it's beautiful to see
(I can't believe) I hear your voice in the pouring rain
The flood gates open when you call my name
This thunderstorm is beautiful to me
I hear your voice in the pouring rain
